TEACHERS COMPLETE THEIR WORK.

Over Two Hundred and Fifty Visiting Teachers Attended the Association Meeting—Election of Officers—Many Resolutions Passed.

There were two hundred and fifty teachers at the meeting of the Southwestern Kansas association yesterday. The sessions were well attended and more than a dozen resolutions were adopted. The visiting teachers seemed to enjoy themselves very much in addition to being interested with the questions under consideration. In the election of officers for the ensuing year, the Democratic candidate for county superintendent, who was elected last year, was re-elected. The visiting teachers seemed to enjoy themselves very much in addition to being interested with the questions under consideration. In the election of officers for the ensuing year, the Democratic candidate for county superintendent, who was elected last year, was re-elected.

The resolution favoring prohibition of "first last and all the time" and opposing a recommitment of that question was passed by a vote estimated at 9 to 1 in its support.

MORNING SESSION.

Ivanova Bryson read an excellent paper on "Primary Reading," and brought out many fine points. Reading is the most important factor in a child's early education. The foundation for it should be a thorough knowledge of how to make the sounds, letters and diacritical markings, and the rules for markings. This point emphasized, that there is but one position of the vocal organs that may be used in producing any given sound correctly. Hesitation and improper articulation in speech may be corrected by showing pupils how to form the mouth cavity and produce the sound. It is highly essential that the child learn to mark his own words according to some diacritical reason rather than have them marked for him, for thus he is sooner made independent of the teacher's help. Not the least of the advantages of a sound system, is the ease with which it is given and the child's pronunciation.

Miss Bryson's paper was well received and showed her ability to handle this subject, in which she is so efficient.

Miss Adelle Jones being absent, Mr. Cook, of Harper, discussed the disadvantage of the "number system." Miss Ferguson followed and claimed it was impossible to teach the number system without objects.

Prof. Wood claimed that when they came to the university they were very deficient in addition, subtraction and multiplication. That the fundamental principles were neglected was shown by their being deficient in them and having a fair knowledge of higher work.

Prof. Boyd, of Arkansas City, claimed that there was not time enough given to number work, and this was the reason for the statement of Prof. Woods. Thorough drills were the one thing necessary in working arithmetic.

Prof. Wood followed again and said he was glad that the teachers did not say "There's my sentiments." He said he never found pupils deficient in fundamental rules. They can't add and subtract.

Prof. Boyd interrupted by saying, "Arkansas City schools can."

"In Mechanical Skill," paper read by Alice Oblinger, was received and commented on by Prof. Griddle.

"What should public schools do for the pupil in physical training," a paper by W. N. Rice of Winfield. This paper showed deep thought, thorough understanding and mastery of the subject.

"In Intellectual training," a paper by Prof. Kemp of Wichita University. Prof. Kemp thought that there were great responsibilities resting on the teachers in regard to the right methods of intellectual training; that whatever direction a pupil should desire to pursue, whatever calling or profession he may choose for life, it is the teacher's duty to train his intellect in that direction as far as he can and never short of perfection of every subject under consideration and a complete understanding of every minute point.

Paper read on "Training the Moral," by Maude Price of Wellington. She said among other things that nations of the world pointed to America as the most moral, social and intellectual division in existence, and the reason was that our nation was founded upon the great body of books, the Bible, and such men as Washington, Franklin, Adams and Jay, as great moral teachers. A great duty rest on the teacher in physical training. A greater in intellectual training, but the greatest is in moral training. The three places to teach moral training is, first, in the family; second, in the church; third, in the public schools. They are inseparable and if carried out rightly will keep the pupils' morals all right and nothing may be feared.

The advocacy by some of removing from the public schools, the Bible, is a most dangerous thing.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

There were quite a number of people in from the city at the afternoon session. The "Moral Training" discussion was resumed and was led by H. C. White of Anthony, followed by H. S. McMichael of Wichita. Both these gentlemen reviewed the papers thoroughly and listened to attentively. Then came a General Discussion by Prof. H. W. Charles of Sedgewick county. Paper by Supl. Julia A. Gannon of Winfield, "Teachers Examination and Issuing Certificates," J. A. Butcher, V. L. Alexander followed with some good suggestions.

The discussion of the question, "Would State Uniformity of Text Book Promote the Best Interest of Our Public Schools," was called.

Attractive, W. R. Payne of Wichita, and negative, Lowell Rondebush of Harper. Mr. Payne in opening the discussion said: System is one of heaven's first laws, and it is as necessary to have this in school books as in anything else.

Why have we abandoned the idea of uniformity, and that having a separate list of text books? The moving about of parents from one district to another would be such a disadvantage. We have the shortest possible time to procure an education, and why not commence this on a grand system of uniformity? We have states in this Union of ours, states that have adopted a uniformity, and that are proving very successful. Indiana, with law to make her own text books, is a grand success, and it is saving to the state millions and millions of dollars.

The next thing is the advantage derived by the teacher in having his pupils all studying the same subject; he can accomplish more, and move and present it more intelligently to the class as they have been studying the same subject by the same author.

Mr. Rondebush, in reply, said: One system of books will tend to make too many one-sided pupils. What we want is more text, giving different theories and manners of expression.

Examination would soon become mechanical and a teacher would get a "heart" lesson, by a system of one kind. He will almost know beforehand the list of questions, simply because he knows they must come from eight or nine text books that never vary.

They have text uniformity in the Golden State and that was done simply to cut out others teachers from other states. It was born in selfishness. If we were to get a uniformity of text in Kansas, it would not be but a few years until they would have to re-submit it to the people again.

The teacher who is industrious will be only too anxious to have a variety of books and will want new ideas from other men.

Mr. Payne closed the debate in a ten minutes talk, answering some points made by his opponent.

The committee appointed to report officers for the ensuing year through its secretary, Mr. James Cooke, reported the following: President—D. S. Pence, Sedgewick county.

Vice President—H. G. Woodrow, Barber county. Secretary—Miss Mary Parsons, Butler.

Treasurer—Mrs. Ella Kinsey, Kingman. Executive Committee—H. W. Charles, Harper; Mrs. M. M. Carson, Sumner; D. R. Boyd, Cowley.

Prof. Kemp of the Wichita University, chairman of the committee on resolutions, reported the following which were adopted: Resolved, That the superintendent should hold a first grade certificate as a condition of eligibility to the office of county superintendent.

Resolved, That cities of the first and second classes should be prohibited from voting for county superintendent of public instruction.

Resolved, That it is the sense of this association that state certificates and diplomas should be given to each state, should be valid in all the others.

Resolved, That the township system should be substituted for the district system, thus giving us uniform and lower taxes, equal school terms, better teachers and more satisfactory results.

Resolved, That we, the teachers of the Southwestern Kansas Teachers' association, reaffirm our allegiance and faith in our prohibitory law, and are yet opposed to the resubmission of the same first, last and all the time.

Resolved, That thanks are due to the officials of the association for their efficient service in providing for this meeting; to all others who have contributed to the pleasure and profit of the members, and especially to those who have tendered the use of Lewis academy for the meeting.

CONCERT.

The concert at the close last evening was a grand success in every particular. The church was full to overflowing, and all went away feeling as though they were greatly benefited, and that the ending of the Teachers' association was grand and glorious. Special mention is deserving to be made of the vocal solos of Mrs. Hovey.

The list of the visitors are as follows: Sedgewick county—H. M. Hutchinson, Carrie M. C. A. Bailey, Mrs. H. M. Mattie Gass, A. M. Kobens, Della Saeke, J. N. Taylor, Mary Ormer, A. N. WICHITA REPUBLICANS MEET TONIGHT.

The delegates elected by the Republican mass meetings Tuesday evening last will meet this evening at the old court house. They will attend to the work entrusted to them, and the crisp and dandy Democratic clump rangers and some "large personal popularity" office-holders who are in love with a many-colored fight. The howling made by some of those who are very much concerned in their holding on prospects, who fear they would not be the majority on a party fight, are all of which has assisted in calling attention to the situation. The delegates tonight will hold their convention, and it is thought quite a number of prominent Republicans will be spectators.

ANOTHER CANCER CURED.

Yesterday Mr. M. S. Rochelle accompanied to the Eagle sanatorium Mrs. J. Law of the West Side, a patient from whom he removed a cancer on the 11th inst. The cancer was, when known as a cancer, cancer, and was four years in formation upon, or rather in the lady's breast. It was just five weeks from the time the treatment was begun until the great, hideous mass sloughed off. The wound is already reduced one-half in size and is rapidly mending. Mrs. Law was very cheerful and says she experiences and indescribable sense of relief.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

The funeral services over the remains of Mr. B. H. Newman, who died yesterday afternoon at the residence of the family, 300 South Topeka avenue. The services were conducted by the Rev. J. W. Horner of the Emporia avenue M. E. church.

Within a few days there will be a meeting of freight men in the city, representing all the railroads interested in the Wichita business. The object will be the consideration of some matters of importance to the people of Wichita and the southwest.

Wm. Barton, of Belle Plaine, one of the early settlers of Kansas, was in the city yesterday. He thinks Wichita is looming up and will be the commercial city of Kansas and the great southwest. The old gentleman is 80 years of age, but well preserved and full of mental vigor.

Geo. C. Mastin, Esq., left last evening for Chicago where he will engage in the practice of law. He leaves many friends in the city who regret very much that he should leave Wichita. He expects to return in a few days to attend to some business matters.

The twenty-eighth annual meeting of the Kansas State Teachers' association will be held at Topeka, December 29, 30 and 31. The program shows that Dr. Stevenson, Prof. Shull and County Superintendent Pence are expected to be on hand with papers, speeches, etc.

Mr. R. M. Dickerson returned yesterday from Texas where he was looking around for healthy people who would take out life insurance for a few years and then let it go and the money paid in would go to the company. He says the Texas fellows know a good thing of this kind when they see it.

W. S. Rogers, the photographer, and Mr. A. A. Post returned yesterday morning from Joplin. They report the Wichita boys over there getting along nicely, and some of them threaten to make a big strike. They are flying around, as they know how to fly, having had orthodox training in that line.

Miss Mona O'Connor, Miss Florence Smock and Miss Ella Rowland, all delightful young ladies and excellent students of the Winfield public schools, accompanied by H. Owen of the same schools, and who are attending the Southwest Teachers' association, honored the spectrum of the EAGLE with a call yesterday morning. Half the lady members of the association are to be as pretty, as sprightly and as intellectually bright as our callers, our application to membership can be considered as being already filed.

The meetings at Olivet Congregational church have been continued in charge of the pastor this week, while services have been held at the mission, on Harry street each evening. Rev. J. Maish and Rev.
